Subject: Early Voting Experience

Submitted by Beatrice Lee Baker

On Wednesday, October 31, 2018 at the Voter Registration and Election Office at 1300 Joe Frank Harris Parkway, Cartersville, I entered the voting booth room and went to the middle machine on the first row. I placed my yellow card in the slot to activate my voting machine. I was able to make voting choices with no problems until I got to voting on State Representative General Assembly and County Board of Education sections. My desire was to write in some candidates of my choice in these areas. When I was ready to write in my first choice for State Representative from the 14th District, I pressed the tab for write in, the key board appeared and I typed in the name of my choice. To submit, I pressed write in and nothing happened, I pressed write in again and then the screen cleared and went directly to the Amendments and Statewide Referenda sections of my ballot.

I didn't panic because I knew I would get a chance to view my choices that I made thus far later before submitting my final ballot. Thinking at that time I would have a chance to go back and continue to write my choices for State Representatives and for County Board of Education.

After completing the Amendments and Statewide Referenda Sections my voting machine made a click sound and my summary screen appeared for about 2 seconds and then it made another clicked sound and the machine stated that my ballot was submitted and my yellow activator card ejected.

I reported my voting experience to the voting attendant in the room. The gentleman stated to me that if you hit the buttons too many times it will complete the voting process and submit your ballot. I informed the gentleman all I did was vote on each item that appeared to me at a time.

Annie Carter - # 05366344 - voter
 The voter said she was having to press the box over and over again to make the (X) show up. I told her to press firmly, then pause before pressing again. When you press a box again, it makes the (X) go away, as if you were changing your mind.

Ms Hudson called at 2:10 P.M. October 18, 2018 to inform me that she was unable to cast her ballot. She said her voter access card popped out when the first ballot review screen appeared and the screen went blank, she then notified the person that was manning the exit door what had happened. note: Ms Hudson is hard of hearing so you must speak loudly when talking with her. Ms Hudson called back at 2:25 P.M. and requested that the voting machine be inspected for proper operation. I assured her all precautions would be performed taken. I then notified Beth Howard of this issue.

I spoke with Ms. Hudson regarding her experience voting. She described the machine briefly displaying the summary screen, and then ejecting the card and saying the ballot had been cast. I tried to explain to her a few times that in my experience that means that there was a slight lag between the last page of the ballot and the summary screen and if she mistakenly touched the next button more than once it could be recorded as a touch on the cast ballot button. I also explained that I was sorry that she didn't get an opportunity to review her ballot, that if she had reviewed her selections as she went that her ballot was cast as she intended it to be. I also told her that we had checked and that the number of votes on the voting system was equal to the number of ballots that we issued that I was confident that her ballot had been cast and not cancelled. I don't think she ever understood what I was trying to explain to her because she just kept repeating to me that she never touched the cast ballot button. I finally told her that I didn't have anything else to tell her and that I was sorry. She said she was not satisfied and hung up.

Ms. Maddox came in today to tell me that when she voted on Friday, the machine did not record her touch correctly for one of the candidates. She called the poll worker over and the poll worker instructed her on how to change her selection. She wanted some assurance that her vote had been recorded properly. She identified the machine she used as the one closest to the exit door. I told her about how we test to make sure that the name selected on the screen is the name that the vote is recorded for. I also invited her to future testing. She was still unsure so I told her about my experiences with the system and how I had never seen it record a vote improperly. She seemed ok when she left. Beth Howard and I immediatly recalibrated the machine that Ms. Maddox identified.

Incident Description (Continue on back if necessary)
Hedy called me at 10:49 to tell me machine went black. I asked if they were charging she said yes. I told her to shut that one down and I would be out to look at it later. She called me back at 12:15 to tell me another one had gone down and that a voter's card was still in the machine. We argued about her checking to see that the machines were charging and I said I was on my way. She called back to say that a few machines were down to 10%. I told her she had to get power to the machine with the card in it to get the card out so that the voter could vote. When I got there they had called parks and rec to check the breaker panel. He had called building maintenance. After an investigation I discovered that one of the machines was slightly unplugged. I impressed upon Hedy the importance of making sure the machines were always charging and mentioned that this was covered in training. Her attitude was very poor and she was very vocal about not knowing what was going on. She also made a comment about how this wouldn't have happened if she had had more help. At one point she was standing directly next to the line of voters waiting to vote (may have been just one person at the time) loudly repeating "I don't know nothing about no breaker" over and over. Janet Queen was there as well and witnessed all of this. I asked Janet to teach Hedy about reallocating resources. When I was there there was barely a line and she had assigned two people to the certificate table and three to the expresspolls and she was the only person watching the 4 machines besides Janet. The student was on sticker duty.

We were in the process of manually inputting an elector's name on the express poll. The equipment froze. We waited several minutes, looked through all instruction booklets & then called the office. We were advised to turn off power & shut down. This has caused the #'s to be off on the machines — after couple minutes #'s match=
